Message From Mrs Langlands

Dear Parents,

It is with great sadness that I am finally saying goodbye to the school I have loved for over half my life. After 30 years at Walloon and 9 years at 4 other schools, it's time to hang up my chalk.

Friday will be my last day at Walloon so I just wanted to take the opportunity to thank each and every parent for the amazing support I have received from all of you over the years. You have embraced my Book Week Parades, my Student Council stalls and all the other crazy plans I have hatched over the years. Your support has been unrelenting and I feel honoured to have worked in a school with such awesome parents for so long. Thank you from the bottom of my heart.

To the students I have taught both this year and over the last 30 years, thank you also for your support. I was always so proud to go to network meetings and brag that almost all of my students dressed up for Book Week, and particularly the older students. I hope I have given you a love of reading that will take you to great places to do amazing things! All the best for your futures, and please remember to say hello to me if you see me out and about anywhere. I will ALWAYS be happy to see you and have a little catch up with you.

Love Mrs Langlands.
